

To the FCC:

It is my understanding that you are considering allowing vile language and full frontal female nudity to be allowed over the airwave and into our homes. This is an absolute disgrace! That you are even considering this shows that this agency has lost all decency. What possible benefit could come from this? NONE! Is there anything you won't allow? Are you proud to be a part of moral depravity? Do you think it's appropriate for 3 year olds to run around saying the f-word? Do you think there is nothing wrong with telling society that women are nothing more than objects? It's bad enough that you allow the cursing and profanity you do, and now you just want to go all out and include any and every profane word. Even after the Supreme Court has upheld your right to limit profane language you would overturn yourself. It's just sickening! Where is your common sense? I strongly urge you to not further degrade the airwaves by allowing the worst profanity and full frontal female nudity.

Respectfully,

Kerrie Stahl
